25 September 1975

1. This was a special meeting with only the Intelligence Community Guidelines for Declassification of Documents Containing Information Concerning Foreign Intelligence Sources and Methods on the agenda.

2. The Navy draft of these guidelines circulated to members on 12 September 1975 was reviewed. It was generally agreed that this draft presented a logical approach to declassification, but questions were raised as to whether these guidelines could be used for continued classification authority as well. The Chairman suggested that he meet with [redacted] Executive Secretary of the Interagency Classification Review Committee (ICRC), [redacted] from the National Security Council Planning Staff and [redacted] CIA, who was a member of the working group, in order to resolve this issue. This was agreed to as a next logical step. The Navy member and the Army representative indicated a desire to attend.

3. The Chairman requested that [redacted] review the Navy draft considering other suggestions made in order to provide substitute language taken from the 22 July draft to be used as a back-up position if needed.
